BROOKLYN, Feb. 25.—Trac, resumed his argument in the scandal trial at 11:15 this morning. The court room was, as usual, crowded. He touched lightly on the legal aspect of the trial, and said the plamuif, in order to make a good case, was bound to prove specific acts of adultery with such proof as could not be dis-

He denounced Kate Carey as a prosti-He denounced Kate Carey as a prostitute, and said her testimony could not be believed. He referred to the testimony of Richards, the brother of Mrs.
Tilton, and characterized his appearance on the stand as a sorry sight. His evidence was prompted and constructed by piaintif's counsel, in connection with Tilton, Moulton and Mrs. Moulton.
He referred to Mrs. Moulton's testimony, who, according to her own testimony, who, according to her own testi-mony, had remained four hours alone in a bed-room with Beecher, and while there, placed her hands on Beecher's shoulders, and kissed him. Where was Richards and Kate Carey then? There was no body in the case who swore to any act of adultery or approach to it out-any act of adultery or approach to it out-side of Tilton, Moulton, and Mrs. Moul-ton. This snowed plainly that there was a triumverate in this gigantic conspiracy. He referred to the fact that Frank B. Carpenter, whose testimony would have been important for plaintiff, had not been called, and said the reason was that on his cross-examination the de-fense would show so clear proof of this conspiracy that none-would hesitate to pronounce the defendant innocent. pronounce the defendant innocent.

conspiracy ever hatched, and, acy, "We will show him to you said Tracy, "We will show him to join his blasted character before we get through."
The counsel then referred to the legal aspect of the case, and presented several authorities, which were read by Judge Porter, against admitting oral proof on charges of adultery.

Tracy next touched on the Beecher-Bowen-Titton difficulty which, he said, was the mainspring of the whole affair.

He claimed that the conspiracy to ruin and to outrage Beecher was originally formed by Bowen and Tilton in Decem-

Her 1870.

It came about through the jealousy of Beecher's personal popularity on the part of Tilton, and business jealousy on the part of Bowen. As soon as Beecher was editor of the Christian Union and that paper's circulation rose from 200,000 to 00,000 in one year, and thus it become a formidable rival of the Independent. Matters.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—The Communistic mob having appointed two o'clock this atternoon as the hour for marching from the Relief and Aid quarters, the military of the city, fully armed and equipped, is, now on duty ready to disperse any such acditious gathering. A guard was placed hast night over all of the armories. A rumor prevailed that the Communists would seek to appropriate the guns and ammunition. But no such attempt was made, and this morning all is quiet.

During the night the Police Headquarters were plentifully supplied with arms. Several cannons were placed in working order, and now the city rests only under the protection of 1,000 fully armed men. At their meeting last night, the Communists indulged in the wildest denunciation and most bloody threats, but the precautious taken by the authorities will probably cool their ardor. If the leaders persist in their insane folly, they are certain to be arrested before night.

The WEEKLY STAR is independent in all tions of THE STAR.

The WEEKLY STAR is independent in all things, but is always on the side of the people. It is not an organ, but is an impartial and cool observer of the strifes of parties, seeking in all things to give its readers the truth.

The WEEKLY STAR is a complete Newsparer, each number being as perfect a history of the world for a week as the most therough facilities and utmost care can make it.

The WEEKLY STAR Market Reports are full, accurate and reliable from all parts of the country where the business is worth quoting. It is the best literary paper for the family now in the field. Its stories and general reading are prepared with great care, and everything is excluded that could offend the most refined taste. Its Book Reviews are full and comprehensive and form an able and reliable commentary on the literature of the day.

Its Congressional and Legislative Reports are given without partisan bias, and may always be relied on for accuracy and fairness.

The WEEKLY STAR contains eight pages of reading matter—forty-eight columns in all and is furnished for $1$ a year—this, including postage and a copy of the Finely Illustrated Star Almanac, makes it not only the best, but by far the

Cheapest Paper in the Country. THE DAILY STAR

(Issued Three Times a Day) Is the great two-cent journal of the West. It contains all the news by telegraph and from our own correspondents in all parts of the world; omits nothing that is required of a representative journal of the present day, and has a circulation second to none in the West.
